

Frequently Asked Questions

Where do I find an approved Driving Safety Course?

The driving safety courses are provided by private industry therefore the courts can not recommend any particular school. You may check the yellow pages for your area under driving schools to locate one near you. You need to inquire at the school if the course they teach is approved for the dismissal of traffic offenses.

I received a citation for Failure to Maintain Financial Responsibility (No Insurance) but I had insurance at the time I just did not have the proof. Can I have the citation dismissed?

You may have this violation dismissed for no charge upon presentation of proof to the Court that the vehicle was covered at the time of the violation. Proof must show: the vehicle, the beginning and expiration date of the policy, policy number, and name and telephone number of the agent issuing the insurance policy.

What violations may be dismissed upon compliance?

- Expired Registration
- Expired Driver's License
- Expired Motor Vehicle Inspection Certificate
- Failure to Report Address Change

If you provide proof that the violation was corrected within 10 business days of the issuance of the citation the above offenses may be dismissed with a $10 administrative fee.

- Fail to Maintain Financial Responsibility (No Insurance)
- Fail to Present Driver's License Upon Request

The above offenses may be dismissed without a charge upon presentation of valid insurance or driver's license to the court.

May someone else come in to pay for my citation?

No, only the defendant or their attorney may bring payment to the court.
